

Selling to the Most Demanding Market

Here at Brading Fabrication, our goal is to partner with dealers that serve the top 10% of the residential and commercial markets for high quality shading products. Selling our unique product lines offers you an opportunity to better serve your existing clients but also enhances your ability to provide superior solutions to a segment of the market that has eclectic needs and demands higher performing products.

Our Silent Gliss product line gives you the flexibility to deliver solutions that are elegant and that can meet the most complex or demanding specifications. These products are specified for use in airplanes, cruise ships, and other physically challenging environments. Commercial applications include shopping malls, hotels and high end retail stores. On the residential side, Silent Gliss products are used in many custom built homes or high end condominiums that incorporate unique architectural elements that would otherwise be difficult to accommodate.

As an authorized Brading Fabrication dealer, we would help you to develop and expand your local market for our innovative and high performance shading products. We do this in a number of ways including advice on industry trends, marketing strategies and solving application problems. We also provide you with a whole host of useful tools such as retail kits, product specs and fabric samples. We also provide lead generation and assistance with RFPs and RFQs. See our "Why partner with Brading?" page for more benefits in working with us.

We are committed to developing long term relationships with our dealers based on mutual trust and respect. Our objective is to set-up a limited number of strategic dealers across the country so that we can mutually benefit from the opportunities that we can develop together.
